

Monkey Joe's Mad Lib

Monkey Joe woke up

emotion

this morning after having a dream that

person

stole his favorite

color

banana. After drinking a glass of a liquid

he walked across the swinging bridge to Monkey Jane's house to see if she wanted to go

verb ending in -ing

in the ocean before he went on his daily verb

. Monkey Jane said she was too busy painting her

object to have fun. Monkey Joe was sad that Jane couldn't come and play, but decided that a giant slice of food

would make him feel better. After eating until his part of the body

was full, Joe went home to change into

article of clothing

before

heading to the jungle for a day full of play with his favorite

bouncer,

your name

